About myself

Skills & Experience
HTML, CSS, SCSS, Flexbox & Grid, JavaScript, jQuery, ES6/7 Vue.js, Vuex, Vue Router, Grunt, Gulp, Webpack, NPM, Git, SourceTree, GitFlow, BEM, Trello, WordPress, PHP, Prismic, GraphQL, MySQL, Sketch, JSON API's, Firebase and more...

What I'm suited to
I can take full ownership of a project from start to finish or work along side an existing team.

Working with well structured designs, I'm able to transform flat visuals into accessible, semantic and interactive applications that are pixel perfect.

Most of my experience sits within a frontend perspective using JavaScript and WordPress in order to build out fully besoke website. I'm always happy to explore new tools and ideas on the job and share knowledge.

What I'm not suited to
Being a freelancer means that I often have my fingers in many pies (not literally); it's the nature of my work.

Whilst I frequently become a jack of all trades, it's a product of necessity. So if you need a Sysadmin, IT expert or backend guru I'm probably not the right guy for the job.

I will always do what I can to get the job done with a positive attitude but I'm not quite omnipotent (yet).

Selected projects
I'm often in the process of projects that aren't quite ready yet, so please ask me about those in person.

I'm a friendly and focused frontend developer, originally from a design background. I'm always eager to learn new things in this fast-paced industry, with the aim to improve productivity, speed and quality.

You can often find me tinckering on my own side projects with dreams of making the next big thing!

More often though, this is just an excuse to explore new avenues and approaches that I can apply to real-world problems, hopefully having some fun along the way.
